STG, Inc. Announces Three Intelligence Community Contract Wins

New Contracts Reaffirm STG's Position as a Leading Provider of Mission-Critical Solutions for National Intelligence Programs

Reston, VA – August 13, 2015 – STG, Inc. (STG) today announced that it has been awarded three new contracts in the Intelligence Community (IC).

The STG mission is to provide long term solutions based on intelligence analysis, advanced collection and exploitation, and data fusion from multiple sources to support critical strategic decision-making for national security customers.

Commenting on the awards, Paul Fernandes, STG President and COO, said:

“STG has long been a leading provider of cyber, software and intelligence solutions to the U.S. government, and these new contract wins further solidify the critical intelligence work we do for this nation. The Intelligence Community has been a long standing customer of STG. These valuable wins will continue the meaningful growth of this segment of our business and provide a platform for further work of this type with this customer and across the entire defence and national security community.”
